

Advanced Program Licensure Test Data – Building-Level Administrator (BLA) 2021-2023

Description

The data reflected in these tables reflect licensure pass rates and scores. Prior to September 1, 2021, the state used Pearson Assessment, and the EPP reported data on only candidates graduating with a degree (per CAEP standards excluding add-on licensure-only programs). After September 1, 2021, the state began using the ETS Praxis exams, and the EPP started reporting all completers, degree recipients, and licensure-only.

Table 1: The N for each cycle of data is the number of leadership program completers and unique test takers in each Title II reporting cycle (September 1 – August 31) and reflects their best test attempt during that cycle.

Table 2: The N for each cohort is the number of completers and testers from each cohort, regardless of when the licensure test was taken, and reflects each completer’s best test attempt.

Data

Table 1: Test Scores by Title II Reporting Cycle

	Pearson Test 039		Praxis Test 5412
	2020-2021 Cycle N=6		2021-2022 Cycle N=17		2022-2023 Cycle N=16
	Avg. Scale Score (Passing=220)	% Passing	Avg. Scale Score (Passing=150)	% Passing	Avg. Scale Score (Passing=150)	% Passing
EPP	219	50%	165	100%	164	100%

Table 2: Test Scores by Program Cohort

	Pearson Test 039		Praxis Test 5412
	Cohort 10 N=4		Cohort 11 N=11		Cohort 12 N=11
	Avg. Scale Score (Passing=220)	% Passing	Avg. Scale Score (Passing=150)	% Passing	Avg. Scale Score (Passing=150)	% Passing
EPP	232	75%	166	100%	165	100%

Analysis

- The 2020-2021 cycle only reported degree recipients (per CAEP policy at the time), but the last two cycles include all completers, degree recipients, and licensure-only (per revised CAEP [policy]).
- The last two cycles have seen a 100% pass rate on the ETS Praxis test.
- The average passing rate on the ETS Praxis test has remained very similar over the last two cycles.

Interpretation

Although average scores from low sample sizes should always be viewed and interpreted cautiously, the data indicate that EPP completers are highly successful in passing the state licensure exam. While Table 1 provides scores by the Title II cycle, Table 2 (by cohort) more accurately reflects the impact of program curriculum and course adjustments.
