Advisors: Critical Information Below!

Beginning in April 2022, Marian University will allow students to determine their own placement in First-Year Writing courses. Below, find the five course structures offered in First-Year Writing, followed by critical information for assisting students in registering for the course structure that best fits them.

	Option 1	Option 2	Option 3	Option 4	Option 5
Course Title	ENG 099: Basic English AND ENG L20: Writing Tutorial	ENG 099: Basic English	ENG 101: English Composition	ENG 112: Writing and Community AND ENG L20: Writing Tutorial	ENG 112: Writing and Community
Total Credit Hours	4	3	4	4	3
Accompanying Writing Lab	ENG L20 (1 credit)	No Lab	ENG L01 (0 credits)	ENG L20 (1 credit)	No Lab

Key to Know: Guided Self-placement Survey in Canvas

To evaluate their own best option, each student, prior to meeting with you, should have taken a Guided Self-Placement Survey in Canvas.* This survey is designed to help students discern which First-Year Writing course structure they should register for FIRST to best support them as a writer.

KEY TO KNOW: CONNECTING SURVEY TO RECOMMENDATION

Finally, you will pair these scores with a recommendation. While following these results is strongly recommended for program retention, this result is a recommendation designed to help you and the student make the best decision. Below, find the chart that will help you correlate Guided Self-Placement Survey scores in Canvas to recommendations for student enrollment in a First-Year Writing course.

	1-15	16-25	26-35	36-50
Recommendation	Options 1 or 2	Option 3	Option 4	Option 5
Writing Course	ENG 099	ENG 101	ENG 112	ENG 112
Writing Lab	Highly Recommended ENG L20	REQUIRED ENG L01	Highly Recommended ENG L20	Optional ENG L20

If your student has not taken the Guided Self-Placement Survey, contact regis@marian.edu
Only ENG 112, with or without a lab, fulfills the General Education written communication requirement.